

Langscape Magazine is an extension of the voice of Terralingua. Through the power of stories, images, and art, it supports our mission to educate minds and hearts about the vital value of biocultural diversity for the thriving of all life on earth.

Langscape Magazine is a general-interest publication, NOT a scholarly journal. We aim to be appealing and accessible not only to academics, students, professionals, and policy makers, but also and above all to a varied, multicultural, and multilingual audience of individuals and communities all around the world.

We ask contributors to avoid a formal academic writing style and use colloquial, everyday language, while drawing from a solid basis of scientific and/or traditional knowledge.

Think storytelling or journalism rather than scholarly article or technical paper!

Your Expression of Interest

Before you submit your Expression of Interest, we strongly recommend that you familiarize yourself with the idea of biocultural diversity and with previously published stories.

Then send us a summary of your proposed topic, using the Expression of Interest form. When filling out the form, you'll be asked to choose the format of your contribution. You may contribute:

- Written essays, short fiction, and/or poetry
- Photo essays, videos, and/or artwork (paintings, drawings, cartoons, or other visual art)
- Podcast scripts, music, and/or spoken word

Deadlines

Expressions of Interest (EOI) must be in by September 1, 2021. We'll review your EOI, and if your proposed topic fits the specific theme of the upcoming issue, we'll invite you to submit your full contribution and send you the relevant instructions. Full submissions will be due by January 15, 2022.

General Guidelines for Contributions

If your EOI is accepted, you'll need to immediately think of quality images to complement your story. Photographs, artwork, and other visual media are a key element in *Langscape Magazine. Authenticity matters to us greatly, as Langscape Magazine tells real stories about the real world. Therefore, we seek to publish "real-life" photos and other images. We may not be able to accept your full submission if you are unable to provide quality images to go with it.

We'll carefully review all full submissions received by the deadline of January 15, 2022. All accepted contributions will be published on our web pages on an ongoing basis. Depending on space availability, all contributions may also be included in the print version of Langscape Magazine Vol. 11 (Summer/Winter 2022). Otherwise, we'll choose a representative sample for print publication. All other accepted contributions will remain available online.
